ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0095] Information that is encoded in different character sets can be combined within a single package without having to perform character set-to-character set encodings, either by interleaving the data or by referencing the data.